Details:

The Spokane County Sheriff's Office has partnered with Jeff Hall and Force Options, LLC to host a Close-Quarter Carbine course. Close-Quarter Carbine (CQC) addresses the use of the police patrol rifle within short ranges. This class replicates the use of the carbine inside houses, mobile homes, schools, etc.; in short, anywhere where a handgun is normally used.

The class covers equipment, fighting stances, slings, dynamic movement, shooting from unusual positions, aggressing to the opponent, and combat accuracy. We will cover transitions to handguns, malfunction clearances, the use of lights, speed reloads, and striking with the rifle. Special attention will be given to muzzle position relative to an opponent at close range, and to active counter-measures during weapon retention.

THIS IS NOT A BASIC RIFLE CLASS! Students should have previously satisfactorily completed a patrol rifle operator class. A short proficiency assessment will be conducted on day one, and unprepared operators will be sent home!

REQUIREMENTS: a serviceable carbine in an intermediate caliber (.223, 7.62x39, etc.), normal range equipment, and a duty handgun and duty belt. A minimum of 1,000 rounds of carbine ammunition is recommended and 100 rounds of pistol ammunition. Each student should bring a minimum of three rifle magazines and a magazine pouch worn on the belt, support side.

INSTRUCTOR: Jeffrey Hall retired after 20 years with the Alaska State Troopers. Hall served 12 years on the statewide SWAT team, the Tactical Dive Unit, and on the state pistol team. He has over 3,000 hours of specialized tactics and firearms training. Hall has taught nationally and has published numerous articles on training and firearms. Hall is an adjunct staff instructor with the NRA, and is a master instructor in several states. Hall is an NRA Distinguished Master and is a Handgun Combat Master. Hall is also a martial artist with 3rd to 10th dan rank in five arts.
